PETER KAŽIMÍR

Guvernér Národnej banky Slovenska

Vážení priatelia klasického, ale predovšetkým krásneho a kvalitného umenia, hovorí sa, že to, čo znamená pre Salzburg Mozart, znamená pre Bratislavu Hummel. Toto prievranie bratislavského rodáka s velikánom vážnej hudby svetového rangu priam predurčuje, aby hlavné mesto Slovenska – Bratislava organizovala podujatia, ktoré nesú jeho meno, ale hlavne umelecký odkaz či schopnosť prebudíť ľudí cez krásu hudby k životaschopnosti. Potvrdzuje to aj historka, keď sa znudený a lenívý princ z Edinburghu stal usilovným a začal rozumieť krásre hudby práve vďaka príbehu mladučkého Hummela. Vážme si, že Bratislava či Slovensko má takýchto rodákov. Národná banka Slovenska si uvedomuje tieto kultúrne hodnoty, preto chce podporiť mladé talenty a odovzdať cenu guvernéra Národnej banky Slovenska aj počas 11. ročníka Medzinárodnej klavírnej súťaže Johanna Nepomuka Hummela. Všetkým súťažiacim tohto veľkolepého podujatia z celého sveta prajem príjemný pobyt v Bratislave a verím, že tóny, ktoré zaznejú pod prstami mladých hudobníkov tak, ako vždy na tomto prestížnom medzinárodne uznávanom trienále, obohatia hudobný život nášho hlavného mesta.

Governor of the National Bank of Slovakia

Dear friends of classical and, above all, beautiful and high-quality art,

It is often said that what Mozart means to Salzburg, Hummel means to Bratislava. This comparison between a Bratislava native and a world-class giant of serious music suggests that the capital of Slovakia – Bratislava – naturally hosts events bearing his name, celebrating his artistic legacy and inspiring vitality through the beauty of music. This was notably demonstrated when the once-indifferent Prince of Edinburgh became engaged and began to appreciate the beauty of music thanks to the influence of young Hummel. We should cherish that Bratislava, and Slovakia more broadly, has such remarkable natives. The National Bank of Slovakia recognizes these cultural values, which is why we are pleased to support young talents and present the award from the Governor of the National Bank of Slovakia at the 11th edition of the Johann Nepomuk Hummel International Piano Competition. We wish all competitors from around the world a delightful stay in Bratislava. We believe that the sounds produced by the young musicians, as always at this prestigious internationally recognized triennial, will enrich the musical life of our capital city.

MARIÁN TURNER

generálny riaditeľ Slovenskej filharmónie

Jedným z miest, kam sa rád chodím „nadýchnuť“ atmosféru starého Prešporka, je neobaroková budova na Klobučníckej ulici v Bratislave, na nádvorí ktorej sa nachádza rodný dom Johanna Nepomuka Hummela (1778 – 1837). Je dobre zachovaný a mesto v ňom prevádzkuje múzeum, ktoré funguje už od roku 1937. Dôvodom mojich návštěv tohto objektu je však aj skutočnosť, že tu sídli predajňa hudobnej literatúry a zvukových nosičov, dnes už ojedinelá vzácnosť aj vo väčších mestách.

Pohľad na útulnú architektúru Hummelovho domu mi vždy pripomene dobu a príbehy spojené s týmto slávnym skladateľom, klaviristom a pedagógom, žijúcim v období na rozhraní hudobného klasicizmu a romantizmu. Študoval u Mozarta, Albrechtsbergera i Salieriho, hrával s Haydnom a priateľské kontakty mal aj s Beethovenom či s Goethem. Udivoval svojím výnimočným talentom a virtuóznou, hudobne vyspelou hrou na klavíri, čím si získal veľkú slávu a uznanie. Koncertoval po celej Európe, od Eisenstadtu cez Bratislavu, Viedeň, Drážďany až po Londýn, aby nakoniec zakončil svoju kariéru ako kapelník orchestrov v Stuttgarte a Weimare, kde dožil svoj život v 58. rokoch. Zanechal po sebe bohatý hudobný odkaz v podobe virtuóznych koncertov venovaných klavíru i ďalším nástrojom, ako aj množstvo komorných skladieb, kantát, baletnej hudby, omší, opier a ďalších kompozícii.

Ked' v roku 1991 zakladal prof. Marian Lapšanský medzinárodnú klavírnu súťaž spojenú s menom tohto významného bratislavského rodáka, možno ani nepredpokladal, že by mohla úspešne pokračovať ešte aj po vyše 30 rokoch. Opak sa však stal skutočnosťou a okrem celosvetovej propagácie Hummelových diel, pritiahne súťaž do nášho hlavného mesta každé tri roky mladých klaviristov z celého sveta, z ktorých viacerí dosiahnu veľkú medzinárodnú kariéru. Klavírna súťaž J. N. Hummela sa stala pevnou súčasťou kultúrneho života Bratislavu, je členom Svetovej federácie medzinárodných hudobných súťaží a Nadácie Alink-Argerich. Jej organizátorom a garantom je Slovenská filharmónia a hlavným partnerom Národná banka Slovenska.

Na tohtoročnom 11. ročníku privítame okrem poroty, zloženej z popredných klavírnych sólistov a pedagógov, až 30 nových nádejných účastníkov. Všetkým im prajeme veľa úspechov v súťažnom zápolení, ako aj v ich ďalšom profesionálnom živote. Veríme, že ich prostredie Slovenskej filharmónie, ako aj dobrá spoločnosť a atmosféra súťaže inšpirujú k tomu, aby si hudbu navždy zachovali vo svojom srdci a aby ju interpretovali s takým nadšením a v kvalite, ako to robil náš rodák Johann Nepomuk Hummel.

MARIÁN TURNER

Managing Director of the Slovak Philharmonic

One of the places I like to go to "breathe in" the atmosphere of old Pressburg is the neo-baroque building on Klobučnícká Street in Bratislava, in the courtyard of which is the birthplace of Johann Nepomuk Hummel (1778–1837). The building is well-preserved and has been home to a museum run by the city since 1937. Another reason I visit this building is that it houses a music store with literature and audio recordings, a rare treasure even in larger cities today.

Looking at the charming architecture of Hummel's house will always remind me of the time and the stories associated with this famous composer, pianist and teacher, who lived during the transitional period between musical classicism and romanticism. He studied with Mozart, Albrechtsberger, and Salieri, performed with Haydn, and maintained friendships with Beethoven and Goethe. He captivated audiences with his exceptional talent and advanced virtuoso piano playing, which earned him widespread fame and recognition. Hummel toured throughout Europe; from Eisenstadt, through Bratislava, Vienna, Dresden to London, to finally end his career as bandleader of orchestras in Stuttgart and Weimar, where he lived to the age of 58. He left behind a rich musical legacy in the form of virtuoso concerts dedicated to the piano and other instruments, as well as numerous chamber pieces, cantatas, ballet music, masses, operas and other compositions.

When Professor Marian Lapšanský founded the international piano competition in 1991 which bears the name of this significant Bratislava native, he might not have imagined that it would still be thriving over 30 years later.

However, the opposite has proven true. In addition to the worldwide promotion of Hummel's works, the competition attracts young pianists from all over the world to our capital every three years, many of whom go on to achieve prominent international careers. The J. N. Hummel Piano Competition has become a permanent part of the cultural life of Bratislava and is a member of both the World Federation of International Music Competitions and the Alink–Argerich Foundation. Its organizer and guarantor is the Slovak Philharmonic, with the National Bank of Slovakia as its main partner.

In the 11th year of the competition we are set to welcome up to 30 promising new participants, along with a jury made up of leading piano soloists and educators. I wish all the participants success in the competition and in their future careers. I hope that the atmosphere of the Slovak Philharmonic, as well as the camaraderie and spirit of the competition, will inspire them to keep the music in their hearts forever and to perform it with the same passion and excellence as our own Johann Nepomuk Hummel did.

Ako skladateľ, klavirista, dirigent a učiteľ hry bol Johann Nepomuk Hummel (narodený roku 1778 v Bratislave) jednou z najvýraznejších a najvýznamnejších osobností v dejinách hudby na rozhraní obdobia klasicizmu a romantizmu. Už ako dieťa bol Hummel známy svojimi nezvyčajnými hudobnými schopnosťami. Mozart bol týmto „zázračným dieťaťom“ tak nadšený, že mu dával hodiny zdarma a dokonca ho nechal bývať vo svojom dome. Do tohto obdobia (1787) spadá aj jeho prvý verejný klavírny koncert v Drážďanoch. Na radu Mozarta podnikli otec a syn päťročnú koncertnú cestu, ktorá ich zaviedla až do Dánska a Anglicka. Klavírne koncerty, v ktorých sa Hummel v Londýne predstavil spolu s Haydnom, sa stali udalosťou roka.

Po svojom návrate Hummel rýchlo nadobudol povest popredného klaviristu Viedne, kde sa tešil vysokému uznaniu aj ako učiteľ hry na klavíri. Post koncertného majstra kapely kniežaťa Mikuláša Esterházyho v Eisenstadtte, ktorý zastával od roku 1804, predstavoval vyvŕcholenie jeho dovtedajšej kariéry. Hummel tu pôsobil osem rokov. Roku 1811 sa znova prestahoval do Viedne, kde navštievoval hodiny kompozície u G. Albrechtsbergera a A. Salieriho a vrátil sa k životu slobodného umelca. V tomto čase zintenzívnil svoj kontakt s Beethovenom a v rámci celoeurópskeho koncertného turné si upevnil povest popredného klaviristu Európy. Po trojročnom angažmán ako Kráľovský kapelník Würtemberskej dvornej kapely v Stuttgarte (1816–1818) odišiel roku 1819 do Weimaru, kde prijal funkciu kapelníka Veľkokniežacieho orchestra. Keďže tu našiel ideálne podmienky a inspiratívne umelecké prostredie (spolu s Goethem tu patril k najväčenejším osobnostiam mesta), zostal Hummel tomuto mestu verný až do konca svojho života. Tu bol aj pochovaný po svojej smrti 17. októbra 1837.

Hummelova sláva klavírneho virtuóza sa zakladala v prvom rade na jeho mimoriadnych klaviristických schopnostiach, ktoré z neho učinili priekopnícky zjav romantickej virtuozity. Brilantnosť, zvuková plnosť a zreteľnosť jeho klavírneho prednesu predstihli všetko, čo dovtedy bolo možné počuť. Okrem toho bol Hummel výborný improvizátor, ktorého talent obdivoval dokonca aj samotný Beethoven. Z tohto dôvodu bol Hummel aj uctievaným a vyhľadávaným učiteľom hry na klavír a jeho škola Ausführliche theoretisch-practische Anweisung zum Piano-Forte-Spiel (Podrobny teoreticko-praktický návod hry na klavíri; 1828), ktorá poskytuje cenné informácie o Hummelovom estetickom ideáli „krásneho a vkusného prednesu“, ako aj novú prstokladovú systematiku, patrila vo svojej dobe k najobľúbenejším inštruktívno-pedagogickým dielam v oblasti klavírnej literatúry.

Kvality Hummelovej klavírnej hry sa odzrkadľujú bezprostredne v jeho rozsiahlej klavírnej tvorbe, ktorá tvorí najpodstatnejšiu časť jeho hudobného diela zahŕňajúceho takmer všetky dobové žánre. Jadro tejto tvorby tvoria početné skladby pre sólový klavír (variačné cykly, sonáty, charakteristické skladby), ktoré dopĺňa 18 skladieb pre klavír a orchester. Pokiaľ sú tieto skladby z hľadiska formy zakotvené v mozartovsko-haydnovskej tradícii, predznamenáva klavírny part zásluhou umenia bohatej ornamentiky, ktorá pripomína až Chopina a zásluhou mimoriadne efektného využitia klavírnych registrów cestu ďaleko do budúcnosti.

Popri klavírnych napísal Hummel koncerty taktiež pre fagot, hoboj, mandolínu a trúbku. Práve koncert pre trúbku si vyslúžil veľkú popularitu. V rozsiahlej oblasti Hummelovej komornej tvorby dominujú skladby s klavírom, pričom tento nástroj v nich súčasne zastáva vedúcu pozíciu. Klavírne kvinteto, op. 87 (1821) a klavírne septeto, op. 74 (1816) patria v dôsledku nápaditej tematickej invenčie ako aj výraznejšej vyváženosťi medzi klavírom a ostatnými nástrojmi k najvydarenejším dielam tejto oblasti Hummelovej tvorby. Okrem inštrumentálnej hudby, ktorá tvorila ľažisko Hummelovo diela, prispel závažnými skladbami aj do oblasti duchovnej hudby (omše, kantáty, Te Deum a pod.), svetských vokálnych skladieb (kantáty, piesne a zborové diela), javiskových diel (spevohry, opery, monodrámy) a v neposlednom rade je aj autorom sprievodnej hudby k baletu a pantomíme. Táto oblasť jeho tvorby stála vždy v tieni jeho inštrumentálnych skladieb – v poslednom čase sme však svedkami jej postupného „znovuobjavovania“.

As a composer, pianist, conductor and piano teacher, Johann Nepomuk Hummel, born in Preßburg (Bratislava) in 1778, was one of the most brilliant and most important personalities of the period between the classical and the romantic music. Hummel's reputation as an outstanding musician began in his child years already. Mozart was so impressed by that Wunderkind that he decided to give him free piano-lessons and let him stay in his house as a guest. At that time (1787) Hummel gave his first public performance as a pianist in Dresden. On Mozart's advice, both Hummels – father Johannes and son Nepomuk – went for five years for concert and educational journey leading them as far as to Denmark or England. Hummel's concerts with Haydn in London became „The“ social event of that season.

Back in Vienna Hummel became very soon a master pianist and one of the most prominent piano teachers in town. His appointment to a concert master of the orchestra of Nikolaus Prince Esterházy at Eisenstadt in 1804 was the first culmination point of his career. Hummel worked in Eisenstadt for seven years before he moved back to Vienna where he took lessons in composition by Albrechtsberger and Salieri and lived as a freelance artist. At that time he intensified his contacts to Beethoven and consolidated his reputation as one of the leading piano virtuosos in Europe. After three years as director of the royal chapel of the Court of Württemberg in Stuttgart (1816–1818), he went to Weimar where he was appointed a Grand Duke's Director of music. Here Hummel had much more time for his artistic activities and so he rested in this town, where (along with Goethe), he belonged to the most prominent personalities for the rest of his life. After his death on October 17, 1837 he was buried on the cemetery of Weimar.

Hummel's fame as a piano virtuoso is due to his extraordinary instrumental skills, which made him the father of the romantic virtuoso style. The brilliance, richness and clarity of his piano-playing went beyond everything hitherto heard. Moreover, Hummel was also an excellent improvisator whose enormous gifts were admired even by Beethoven. All these qualities made him the most sought after piano teacher. His piano tutor Ausfährliche theoretisch-practische Anweisung zum Piano-Forte-Spiel (1828) contains valuable explications of his aesthetic ideals concerning „an elegant and tasteful performance“ as well as a new system of fingering.

The quality of Hummel's piano-playing is directly reflected in his numerous compositions for piano, which represent the most important part of his extensive musical oeuvre. His numerous piano pieces (variations cycles, sonatas, fantasies a.o.) are topped up by 18 compositions for piano and orchestra. Though these compositions are formally rooted in the tradition of Mozart and Haydn, the piano part with its fine ornaments and his most effective exploitation of the piano registers indicates more the forthcoming development especially represented by Chopin and Liszt. Hummel also wrote concerts for instruments like bassoon, oboe, mandolin and trumpet, among which the concerto for trumpet and orchestra became very popular.

In his broad production of chamber music the compositions with piano are dominating, whereby the piano part plays a leading role. The Piano septet, Op. 74 (1816) as well as the Piano quintet, Op. 87 (1821) belongs – due to their elaborate themes and a good balance between the piano and the string-ensemble – to the most successful compositions of this genre. Besides instrumental music, which represents the centre of his creative work, Hummel wrote a considerable amount of religious music (masses, cantatas, one Te deum etc.), secular vocal music (cantatas, songs and choral music), numerous compositions for the stage (song plays, operas, monodramas), and last but not least: ballet and pantomime music. Ever since this part of his oeuvre is shadowed by his instrumental works Nevertheless, recent there efforts strive to rediscover them.
